

The Congressional Internship Program in Congressman Israel's office is an excellent opportunity to learn about the federal government and public policy issues while spending a summer or semester dedicated to public service. Internships are available in both Congressman Israel's Long Island office and Washington office.

In the Washington office, interns work closely with staff on a variety of legislative projects. Responsibilities will include conducting legislative research, responding to constituent requests, attending Congressional Committee hearings, conducting tours of the U.S. Capitol and performing general office duties.

Interns in the Long Island office will have the opportunity to conduct research for constituent casework requests, assist with Congressional events, staff Congressman Israel at community functions and perform general office duties.

Congressman Israel asks that all interns are responsible and possess a mature, professional manner. Interns should take initiative and be well-organized and efficient.

Internships are unpaid and are offered throughout the year. Our office will be happy to work with you if you are requesting credit for your internship through your school or university.

If you are interested in an internship in the Washington office, please fax a cover letter and one-page resume to (202) 225-4669, attention Intern Coordinator. For the Long Island office, please fax a cover letter and one-page resume to (631) 951-3308, attention Intern Coordinator.

The deadline for Summer applications is April 15, 2010. The deadline for Fall applications is August 1, 2010.
